COMPETITIONS

The Fixture Cards which appear elsewhere in this Review list the various club competitions to be held during the season. With the exception of the Club Championship there are all handicap competitions, so that the less skilled golfer has an equally good chance of winning as the better player.

New members are urged to mark down at least four scores on the card for that purpose to be found in the handicap book in the locker room. This will enable the Match and Handicap Committee to give you a handicap and place you in the proper division for competitions. Each member's name is entered in these competitions and you are requested to co-operate with the Match and Handicap Committee by seeing that the matches are played with a minimum of delay.

In singles matches, three-quarters of the difference between the handicaps is the number of strokes allowed. In foursomes, three-eighths of the difference between the aggregate handicaps on each side is allowed. Fractions of one-half or more count as one stroke; less than one-half, nothing.

In medal play competitions all holes must be holed out and all score cards certified by partner.

IMPORTANT RULES

Each member introducing a visitor as a guest shall enter the name and address of such visitor in the Green Fee Register, previous to playing over the course. Members shall also be responsible for registering their guests for clubhouse privileges, and no such privilege shall be extended to a guest who is not properly registered and vouched for by a member in good standing.

No member is allowed to register more than two guests for club social events.

During Saturday afternoons, Sundays and holidays, members must play with guests registered by them.

IMPORTANT LOCAL RULES

A ball coming to rest in a drainage ditch may be lifted and dropped back of the ditch, and not nearer the hole, without penalty. A ball lifted in the rough must be dropped in the rough, not nearer the hole.

A ball coming to rest by the water pipe between the third and fourth fairways may be lifted and dropped within one club length on either side of the pipe, opposite to where the ball is lying, without penalty.

A ball coming to rest by the screen at the left of the sixth tee may be lifted and dropped within one club length, not nearer the hole, without penalty.

A ball coming to rest in the planted area on the left of the sixth fairway may be lifted and dropped within one club length of the area, not nearer the hole, and opposite to where the ball is lying, without penalty.

A ball coming to rest by the water pipe on the right side of the seventh fairway may be lifted and dropped within one club length, without penalty. A ball lifted in the rough must be dropped in the rough, regardless of which side of the pipe the ball is lying.

A ball coming to rest by the fence to the left of the seventh fairway may be lifted and dropped within one club length, not nearer the hole, without penalty.

A GOLF CLUB IS KNOWN BY THE ETIQUETTE OF ITS MEMBERS

If you wish your Club to be held in good esteem

1. Don't hold up the course. If there is a clear hole ahead, or if you cannot find your ball, you must invite the players behind you to go through and you must not resume play until they are out of range.
2. Don't fail to replace your divots. It is your Golf Course, why spoil it!
3. Don't add up your score on the putting green while others are waiting to approach.
4. Don't improve the lie of your ball, either in the rough or on the fairway.
5. Don't pick up your ball for identification without asking permission from your opponent.
6. Don't concede puts in medal play competitions either to your opponent or yourself; if you do you are disqualified.
7. Don't take practice swings on the tee while others are driving.
8. Don't dawdle between shots.
9. Don't leave a bunker worse than you found it.
10. Don't touch anything in a bunker before you play your shot.
11. Don't forget the Golden Rule.
12. LET FASTER PLAYERS THROUGH
